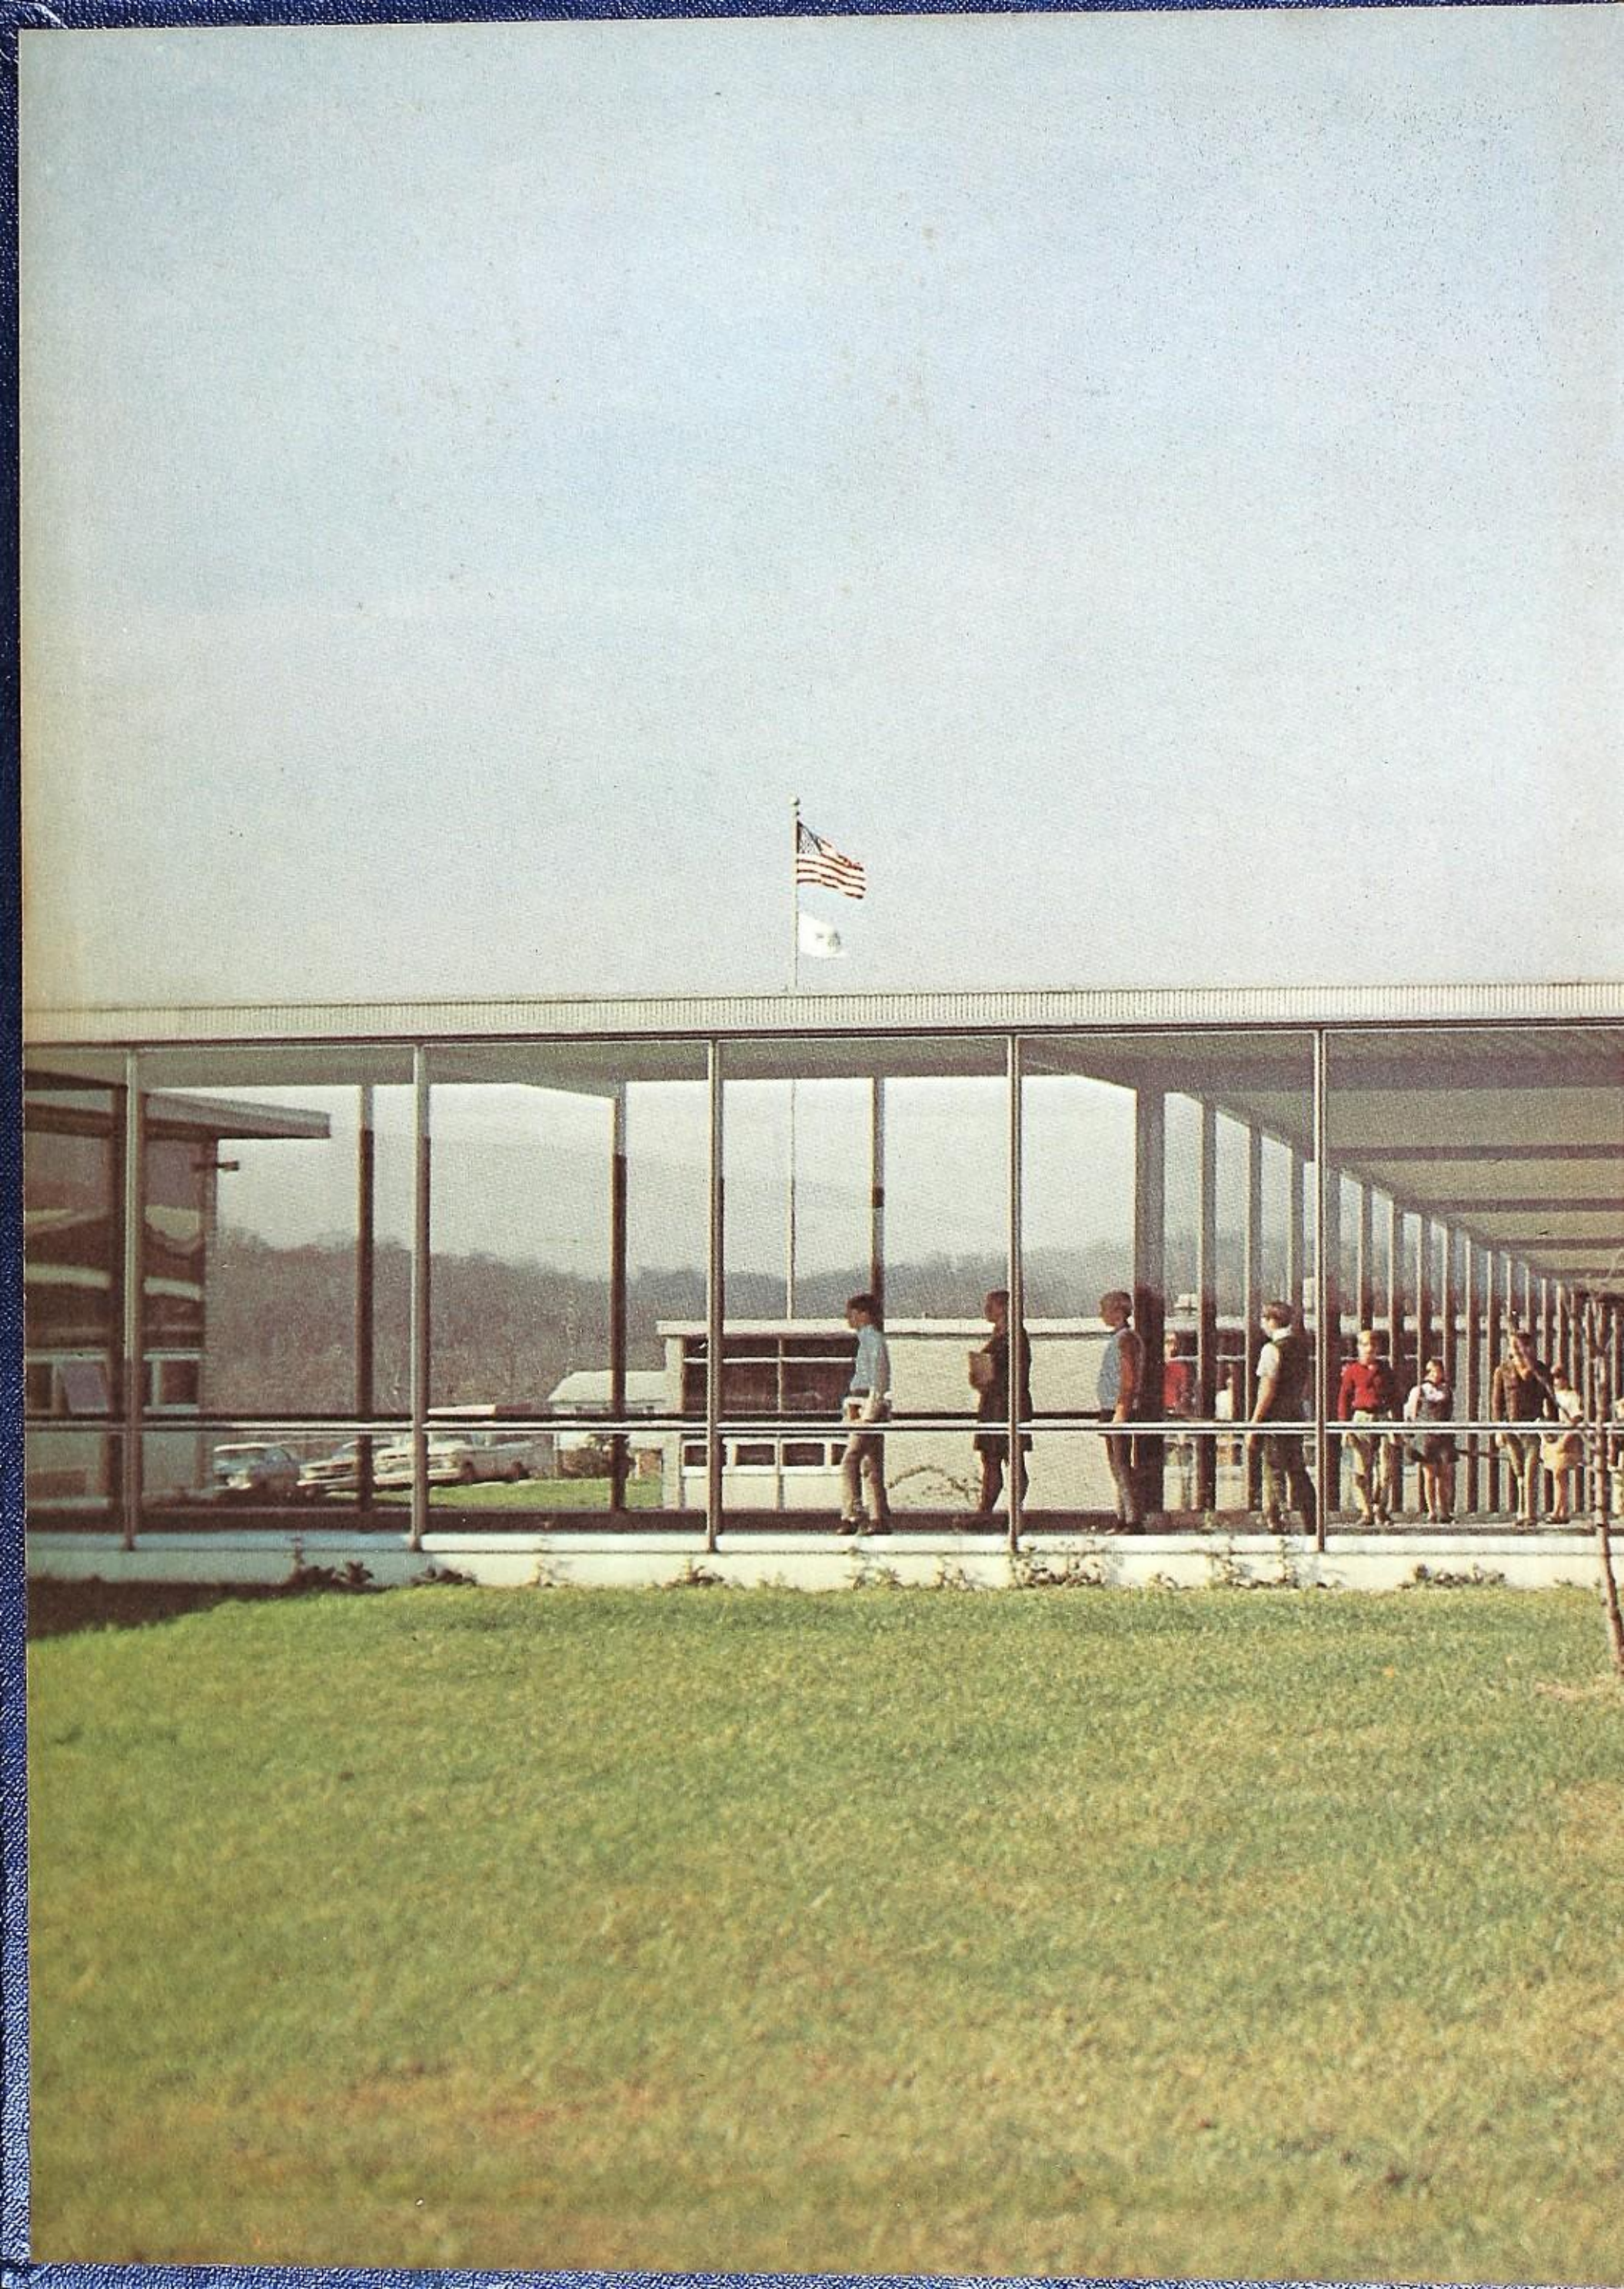
THE SHIELD



THE SHIELD

We were called the "Now Generation"; not just a new generation, but a new kind of generation — assertive, articulate, well-educated and worldly. We brought about a YOUTH-QUAKE.

We sat through all kinds of weather at football games . . . spent our last cent on fun and gadgets, food and dates . . . gave our free time to clubs, sport and school activities . . . conformed en masse to fads and fashions . . . competed in earnest for top grades . . . learned more, earned more, owned more and just reveled in the good life of being a part of W.H.S.

It has been said that we were more deeply committed to the ideas of decency, tolerance and brotherhood than almost any other generation since the age of chivalry. We felt that we were not just merely preparing for life, we were living it. We played an active part in the world that was "turned-on and tuned-in."

Mr. Allen N. Short has completed his first year as high school principal in the Warren System. Some of his duties include planning the curriculum, representing the school in different organizations, and scheduling classes, teachers, and extra activities.

We appreciate all the work he has done to get the school off to a good start and the co-operation he has given the annual staff.

OUR PRINCIPAL
Mr. Allen N. Short

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL
Mr. Ernest B. Pearson

The position of assistant high school principal has been filled this year by Mr. Ernest B. Pearson. Among his other duties, Mr. Pearson is in charge of attendance, parking, and most discipline cases.

The annual staff wishes to thank him for his patience and understanding.

MRS. WILMA REED

The success of any counseling program in a school system depends upon the confidence the students have in our counselors. Prerequisites to building confidence in our counselors are these: ability to convey a warmness and interest and keen ability to listen and share in a student's problems.

Secretaries

MRS. LILLIAN PORTER

Students and visitors coming into the office are greeted and given the necessary information by our efficient secretaries. Besides playing the part of hostesses they perform many other duties, such as answering the telephone, reading the announcements, typing letters, putting mail in the teachers' mailboxes, and knowing just what is happening in the school.

Thank-you, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Spence for doing a lovely job.

Science Helps Us Understand Our Environment

The world of science is constantly filled with drama, much of it invisible to ordinary eyes. This drama is no simple story, for the balance of the earth's creatures is delicate, complex, and multiple. A change affecting one species may ultimately affect another species with which it has no direct or obvious contact. With the help of our science department, the fascinating story of ecology is unfolded to the students.

Home Economics

The Home Economics Department teaches more than the arts of dressmaking and food preparation. Every phase of homemaking is stressed in the curriculum. The planning and preparation of nutritious meals, sewing, the study of home furnishings and home nursing are taught in home economics every year. Each of the courses prepare the students for future homemaking and the prospect of a fuller and richer life.

Vocational Agriculture

There are few vocations so highly dynamic, rapidly changing, and yet offering so many opportunities to youth as that of agriculture. The youth everywhere must be trained to insure agriculture's continued growth, so essential to the welfare of the nation. The farmer's role in handling problems in this complex world is vital to our economy.

Special Education

The goal of special education is to achieve happy and useful citizens for our community, state and nation. We are primarily concerned with practical applications of our subjects for everyday living. We stress the importance of job preparation, job placement, and job retention.

Art

MISS SYLVIA YOUNG

Art, to each student, is an individual thing. Art is an expression of the individual's thoughts, imagination and experiences put down in an artistic endeavor. Each student is allowed to create on his own with the proper motivation and guidance and is lead toward a path of freedom in artistic development. This freedom is encouraged. Only in art can satisfaction be found in the realization that one has created something entirely his own, apart from everyone else. This is the art program, where students are involved in exciting assignments that range from flat 2-D work in all media to 3-D constructions. Students have the opportunity to display their work in the annual End of the Year Art Exhibit which is on display in the cafeteria and Building One lobby. The art classes include Art I, Art II, Commercial Art, and Oil Painting.

Keeping Fit Through Physical Education

Physical fitness is of great importance to all Americans. Recognizing this fact, the athletic department at Warren offers students a variety of sports in which they may participate. From spectator sports such as football, track, softball, baseball, basketball, wrestling, which contribute greatly to school spirit, to individual sports such as weight lifting and peg board climbing, which contribute to personal spirit, the list includes something for just about everyone.

Industrial Arts Prepares Future Laborers

The Industrial Arts Department is open to those students who wish to interpret measurements into accurate drawings and to attempt to develop dexterity in the use of their hands and tools. Courses available are woods and metals, photo science, graphic arts, drafting, electricity, power mechanics, and crafts. The students are encouraged to be creative, to use their own ideas, and to develop their own techniques.

seniors

Seniors

1971. To many people this year holds no special meaning, but to Warren Seniors this year symbolizes the attainment of a goal, a dream fulfilled. This was the year of the Senior Superstars, both in athletics and scholarship. This year, dangling on the mortar boards, was the prize for four long years of hard work: long hours spent writing themes, studying for tests, and sweating on the practice field. But along with the agonies, we enjoyed the ecstasies. The happiness of simple living: smiling, loving, screaming at games, talking in the halls, dancing, and sometimes just daydreaming. We triumphed in the sign contest with our giant yellow bell sign and were first in the Food Drive. We felt pride when Debbie Westbrook was handed the dozen red roses and proclaimed Homecoming Queen.

The last month before graduation was packed with special events; the Senior picnic . . . our red, white, and blue day . . . Senior field day . . . Junior-Senior Prom . . . and ultimately, . . . Graduation. But, as our year, 1971 ended, we were reminded that a "new year is coming;" a year of new experiences and new hopes.

Juniors

Probably the most exciting event of the year for the Juniors was receiving their class rings. The pride Juniors take in their ring is as evident as the pride they take in working for the junior class. We sold candy and worked the coatcheck at basketball games in an effort to make the Prom a memorable one. The class of 1972 won the Best Slogan Award in the sign contest with this classic motto, "Edgar Allen Poe says, 'Nevermore, Ravenswood, Nevermore,'" . . . we also placed second in the food drive. Pat Burt was chosen as our homecoming attendant and our Sweetheart Couple was Rhonda Bowen and Paul Wells. Juniors did well both in scholarship and athletics. This year has been a rewarding one for the Juniors, a year of searching and a year of anticipation; a year to find their own place.

The joy of finally being an upper classman and "our" Little Warrior victory over Marietta last year are at the top of the list of things never to be forgotten by the class of "73."

We selected Denise Hooper for our homecoming attendant for the second straight year, and Denise and Chip Spence were chosen as our class sweethearts. We sponsored a dance at the end of semester test week to help everyone unwind and forget the grades they made on the tests. Other activities such as ordering class rings, attending games, and working on notebooks have kept us all very busy this year.

ROW 2: Student Council; Brenda Beebe, Susie Reese, and Beth Carpenter.

On a scorching hot, humid September day, 186 nervous freshmen entered the doors of Warren High School, little knowing what lay ahead in the next four years. They soon learned that freshmen are constantly teased and tortured by upperclassmen. They also learned the tricks of the trade, like how to jam a locker, how to get away with wearing culottes, and other antics.

Many freshmen were active in sports. Our most exciting football game was when we defeated our bitter rivals, Belpre.

In the sign contest against the other classes, the enthusiastic freshmen won the spirit award. For the Valentine Dance, we chose our sweetheart couple, Vickie Ludwig and Joe McGirr.

The freshmen wish to thank everyone who made their first year at W.H.S. a happy one.

organizations

Interclub Council is a relatively new organization at Warren High School, but within its short existence it has proved to be an efficient and effective club. The active members helped stage a relevant and exciting Christmas assembly, "It's Up To You."

Other activities included spreading spirit and endeavoring to promote involvement in school activities.

The 1970-71 Student Council began with new ideas brought by Rick Kahrig, Linda Mallahan, Debbie White, Linda McAtee, and Kevin Place when they returned from the Student Council workshop at Ohio Northern University. The Council opened up a wider scope of business and assumed the responsibility for more projects around school.

National Honor Society

National Honor Society built up its treasury last year by a bake sale and a dance. This money was used to pay for the Semester Honor Roll Tea and the Induction Ceremonies. The N.H.S. sponsored a T.V. Honor Society Bowl Team also. The Society is used to give special recognition to students with high grades, who take part in extra-curricular activities, and show the qualities of leadership, character, and service.

To be initiated into National Junior Honor Society a freshman or sophomore must have gained recognition in character, scholarship, leadership, service, and citizenship. This year the Junior Honor Society sponsored the Belpre Bonfire. They gave a monetary award to the class with the most wood, and supplied free hot chocolate. The Honor Society's year will conclude with the induction of new members and a dance.

College Club

Speakers from area colleges such as Rio Grande College, Ohio University and Mountain State College came to provide information to members of the College Club. The speakers talked about the schools and the range of classes they offered. A former student of Warren High School, Paul Bricker, discussed his experience at college.

The College Club members come from the Junior or Senior classes at Warren High School.

Battle Cry

This year the BATTLE CRY staff modified the paper into four columns and used more pictures. The paper used sales getters such as polls, sweetheart snapshots, Senior profiles, and a joke area. Warren High students were kept well informed by the wide variety of news.

This year the Industrial Arts Club held two turkey shoots and a Battle of the Bands to raise money for a camping trip and pizza party. The only requirement to belong to the club is that a student be enrolled in the industrial arts program, and interested in promoting the Industrial Arts classes.

Industrial Arts Club

The Warren High Chapter of OEA was operated only on a local level this year. Mrs. Aebi acted as Warren High Chapter sponsor of OEA and together with the other club advisors, worked on the plans which involved joint participation of the four clubs.

This year, each club took turns in hosting a joint meeting of the four clubs once a month. Individual meetings took place within the various blocks. The joint event of the clubs was the Spring Banquet held in May.

Some highlights of the year in Home Economics have been: They attended a subregional meeting at Barnesville, and exhibited clothing at two fairs. Members visited elderly folks at Arcadia Rest Home at Coolville, and prepared a Christmas program called "Christmas Customs around the World." Four bus trips have been enjoyed by many members: summer picnic at Adena, home of Ohio's fifth governor, at Y.M.C.A. Building at Marietta, and a career day at the campus of Ohio State University. The theme for the annual style show was "Astrological Fashion Forecast."

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes started a huddle group last year with help from Williamstown High School. F.C.A., being a new organization, began with only a few members this year, but hopes to grow next year by getting more boys interested. F.C.A. is open to any boy at Warren High who has taken part in sports since entering high school. The huddle group plans to have films, speakers, and literature that will aid in discussions by the group.

JERRY KELICAN

Mr. Kelican, head football and track coach and physical education, world history and civics teacher at Warren High School, announced his resignation May 4, effective at the end of the 1970-71 school year. Kelican will be the head coach at James Wood High School, Winchester, Va.

He came to Warren in 1968-69 and started the rebuilding of athletics. He has coached both the Track and Football teams to Championships in the Tri-Valley League.

Everyone in Warren who has been associated with Coach Kelican will truly miss our enthusiastic and talented mentor, but we wish him much success in his future endeavors. GOOD LUCK!
